VOLUNTEER WORKERS NEEDED FOR DRIVE

All Interested In Helping Red Cross
Invited To Rally Thursday, February 8

Proclaiming next week Red Cross Week in Daly City, Mayor Paul Green called on women volunteers to help in the coming Red Cross funds drive.

A rally for all those interested in assisting the Red Cross will be held Thursday, February 8, in the hall above the Daly City Theatre. The meeting is scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

The convalescence will feature a combination tea and donut-dunk. All women who will give a helping hand in collecting funds for the Red Cross drive (which opens in Daly City February 15) are asked to be present.

Mrs. Barney Bristow, county Red Cross chairman, will be the guest speaker of the day. Mayor Green also will address the women on the activities of the Red Cross in Daly City.

Meanwhile, those wishing to volunteer to assist the Red Cross may do so by signing up either at the Daly City Super Service, or at Green's new offices, 6236 Mission street.

HOW IT LOOKS FROM A CORNER

By BILL KATZ

When we are no longer children we are dead.

So said the sage who recognizes that the majority of us, embroiled in materialism, have lost the meaning of life. It is the child, whose every day is a voyage of discovery into the wonders of existence, who truly lives.

Life to the young is a thing of beauty, not complicated by passion, greed, or intolerance. He sees the world through clear uncompromising eyes. . . . A bird on wing is as wonderful as the powerful bomber; a tree as marvelous as a sky scraper; an open field more inviting than the neon jungle of the city. He is basic, simple, natural, and most important, aware.

COUNCIL WORKING ON LIBRARY AID

Caucus Considers Library, Sewage Plant

Whether to improve the present library until a new building can be built, or to lease larger quarters, is the question councilmen will discuss next Monday evening.

The discussion will be held at the council's regular caucus meeting . . . not open to the public.

Mayor Paul Green said he was investigating various quarters which could be rented for the library. Councilman Jim Kennedy is working on the cost of temporary improvements to the building.

Survey Opens

The survey was launched two weeks ago after the Daly City PTAs and The Record brought to the attention of the council that present library facilities are inadequate. As no improvements have been made on the building in the past 10 years, the present quarters are overcrowded, especially in the children's section.

"We are working hard to solve this problem without further delay," the mayor said today.

Councilmen Kennedy and Fred Bertetta have also expressed a desire to remedy the library "housing shortage" as soon as possible.

Sewage Plant

Meanwhile, another topic under discussion Monday evening will be the new North San Mateo County Sanitation District. It is expected that the council will name two men to sit on the three man board for the District. The third man will be nominated by the county supervisors.

The district has been formed for the ultimate purpose of providing a large tax base for construction of a new sewage treatment plant for this area. Cost of the plant, to be financed by a bond issue, is estimated at about $450,000.

However, as the state has about $7,000,000 left in the fund to assist cities in building sewage treatment plants, the district could count on about $225,000 of the $450,000 coming from the state.

Blaze Busters Called Out Once Over Weekend

Only one minor fire was reported in Daly City over the past weekend.

Three fire companies were called to 6564 Mission last Saturday evening to put out a blaze in the car of Samuel Benavides, 169 Miriam street.

When firemen arrived Benavides had succeeded in putting out the fire which had started in the motor. The damage was minor, firemen reported.

Civilian Defense Air Raid Warning System Studied

Investigating various types of air raid warning systems this week is City Councilman Jim Kennedy.

The purpose of the investigation is to have a definite plan of action prepared when the state finally gives the go-ahead on city purchase of adequate air raid equipment.

Kennedy's survey will determine the cost, and the various types of air raid sirens.

Westlake Exception

Although the city does not plan to purchase any sirens until approved by the state, the one exception will be in Westlake, Kennedy indicated.

"As Westlake has no signal, we believe it imperative that a siren go in there immediately," Kennedy said.

Meanwhile, the rest of Daly City will limp along on present whistles and sirens which admittedly are of little use for air raid warning.

"Our hands are tied until we get the go-ahead from the state as to what type of siren is best," Mayor Paul Green said. "We don't want to make any unnecessary expenditures for warnings which may be outdated."

The mayor concluded that the council hopes in the near future federal, or state funds will be available for city air raid systems.

Local Youth Sues R.C. Theatre For $10,200 Damages

A damage suit of $10,200 was filed this week against the Fox West Coast Theatre company by a Daly City youth who claims he was injured June 22, 1950, when the roof of the Redwood City Sequoia Theatre collapsed.

Plaintiff is Bryce R. Bannatyne, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Bannatyne of Daly City. Young Bryce asserts he was sitting directly under the section of the theatre roof that collapsed. He is one of scores of persons present in the theatre when a section of the plaster gave way at a late evening show and showered theatre patrons with debris.

Young Bannatyne is asking for $200 for doctor bills, and $10,000 for alleged head injuries which still are bothering him.

Attorney for the plaintiff is Thomas Bocci Jr., 6654 Mission.

Council Awaits Fed.
Action Before Mar. 1

How do rent controls stand in Daly City?

The answer was forthcoming this week from Mayor Paul Green. Under the present federal law controls will remain effective here until March 31. At that time the council may, by resolution, extend controls until June 30.

"However, we believe it will not be necessary for the city council to take any action. Indications are that the government will extend rent controls," Mayor Green said.

Opinions Welcome

The council is apparently split on whether or not, if left up to them, rent controls should be killed or extended after the March 31 deadline.

"We would welcome the opinions of residents on this question," the mayor said.

As to increase in present rents, the mayor noted that recently the San Mateo County Rent Advisory Board voted against raising rents in any city in the county. The mayor said Daly City is "governed" by this body when it comes to raising rents.

The mayor said that the San Francisco Rent Board, which recently allowed a 25 per cent increase, does not affect Daly City rents.

Despite this lack of control in Daly City, rent ceilings and other questions for this area are handled in San Francisco at 180 New Montgomery, the mayor said.

ATOMIC BOMB LIFE SAVERS

What is the primary must for self-protection in event of atomic attack?

Fall flat on your face!

Inside a building, flatten out as close as possible to cellar walls.

If you have no cellar, or can't reach it, lie down along an inside wall, or under a desk, table or bed away from windows or doors.

If outdoors, drop alongside base of substantial building or fall flat in gutter or ditch. But watch out for overhanging cornices on buildings.

Inside or out, keep face buried in arms for 10 to 12 seconds after explosion.

Orrin Wendling Quits Dan Andersen Named To Fill New Position

GOODBYE WENDLING; HELLO ANDERSEN

A paradox of government was enacted in Daly City this week.

Monday, the city learned that Orrin Wendling, the popular city administrative officer, had resigned. This was a real blow to good government. During the six months Wendling has been "mate" to the city, he has made many friends. His constant effort to better the city was seen in parking meters, a drive to help the library, a crack down on some obvious rackets, and a general consideration for the people he was serving.

There is not one man or woman in Daly City today who is happy to see Wendling leave, i. e. any man or woman interested in good government.

On the other hand, Wednesday, Dan Andersen was appointed to succeed Wendling. Those familiar with Andersen know he will make an excellent city administrator. His ability to make a financial success of a theatre, his honest effort to please, his sincere desire to assist the city . . . all of these qualities are obvious to his friends.

Time and time again Andersen has shown that he has the ability, the intelligence, the courage to make a good public official. True, he admits he is a "greenhorn" to politics. But, this we believe, is a good thing.

A man honest enough to admit he doesn't know all the answers is too rare a type. That is the man, as Andersen is, who will have the common sense to do a good job.

So, here we have the paradox. We are sorry that Wendling is leaving, but we are happy that Andersen will take his place.

Parking Meter Fight

Some Merchants Below School Street Demand Meters Be "Jerked Out" Now

Taking up the gripe about parking meters, several merchants below School street, on Mission, this week requested all the meters in their area be removed.

Judge Thomas Bocci, who is representing this group of business men, said they definitely wanted the meters removed, and their is "no middle ground."

"I will present a petition requesting the meters be taken out early next week," Bocci said today. "I hope to have 50 signatures."

Try For 70

This was the most drastic move in the parking meter controversy to date. Merchants above School street have requested that some of the meters be removed; but on the whole are willing to keep them, if diagonal parking is returned and the time limit on the meters is increased from two to three hours.

Attorney Thomas Callen, who represents the business men on "top of the hill," said his petition will be ready for the council early next week. He does not know how many have signed, although the petition is aiming for 70 signatures.

In all probability the whole matter will be aired at the next regular meeting of the city council February 12.

Must Go

Bocci noted that the merchants below School street have always had adequate parking for their customers, and cannot understand why meters are necessary.

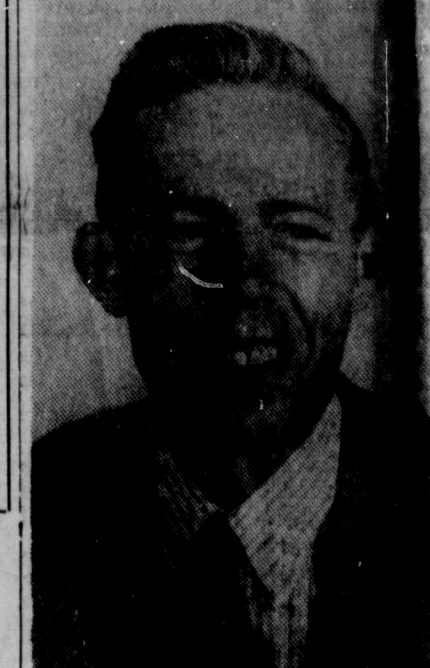

"Unlike the 'top of the hill,' the southern section of Daly City has never presented a parking problem," Bocci said. "That is why we ask such drastic action. The meters must go."

OLD TIMERS' NIGHT

EAGLES HALL

Popular Theatre Mgr. Appointed

In one of the quickest "switches" in Daly City's history, Orrin Wendling resigned as administrative officer Monday, and Wednesday, Dan Andersen was named to the job.

Wendling's resignation was accepted and approved by the council at a closed meeting Monday night. After six months as Daly City's first administrative officer.

ORRIN WENDLING

28-year-old Wendling gave no reason for his resignation. "I have no comment," he said today.

Council's Choice

Andersen, who six months ago had been considered for the position.

SOME COUNCILMEN MYSTIFIED AS WHEN CHOICE WAS MADE

The city council seemed split today on the question: "Just when did we appoint Dan Andersen the new city administrative officer?"

Mayor Paul Green announced Andersen was chosen at 10 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He noted the choice came after the council had "kicked around the question for a while."

Councilman Fred Bertetta said to his knowledge no definite action has been taken. "We have not had a meeting, and the announcement by the mayor comes as a surprise to me."

Councilman A. J. Gaggero said the mayor asked his opinion on the question Wednesday evening. Gaggero noted he was asked to approve the new officer some two hours after Green had made the announcement.

Councilmen Jim Kennedy and Edward Mooney were not available for comment.

Addition Planned This Summer For J.S. Boulevard

An important link will be added to California's expanding chain of modern super-highways next summer when work is completed on the 1.4 mile extension of picturesque Junipero Serra Boulevard from Sneath Lane to Crystal Springs Road in San Bruno.

Construction reached the 35 per cent stage of completion this week on the $275,000 project, according to San Mateo County Supervisor Andrew J. Gallagher, secretary, and Supervisor Dewey Mead, treasurer, both of San Francisco.

Need Road
Hickey, father of the project, foresaw in 1928 that the vast expansion of San Mateo County would soon create need for a new highway through the county. Gallagher sponsored the legislation and Junipero Serra Boulevard became a reality with the extension of 19th Ave. south from the San Francisco-San Mateo county line.

The federal government has recently made inquiries about the road's possible use in the event of evacuation from San Francisco.

Within ten years San Mateo had actually become the most rapidly growing county in the nation, by official government figures, thus fulfilling Hickey's prophecy and justifying the urgent need for the new roadway. The county today is still second on the national list.

Termination
The scenic four lane thoroughfare, is destined eventually to terminate in Millbrae, a total distance of ten miles from its beginning at the southern boundary of San Francisco.

Total cost of the road, when completed, will be $5,000,000, of which $1,700,000 has been spent to date. Administrative costs thus far have been less than five per cent, a remarkably low figure.

A fine example of inter-county unity, Junipero Serra Boulevard is financed jointly by the two counties and by the state of California. Based on percentage of usage, San Francisco County in 1928 pledged 85 per cent of construction costs, San Mateo County 15 per cent, with the state then undertaking one-third of the total cost.

Data on employment and manpower developments, wages, accidents and standards are compiled by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Eagles Launch Rabbit Hunt

Colma-Vista Grande Eagles are in the midst of a "Rabbit Hunt" Campaign.

This does not mean that they are out shooting family pe's or rodents of the field, according to Tom Rae, secretary. In this case, the "rabbit" means a new member, and Bill Carrington, membership chairman, who is "Master of the Hunt," has appointed Messrs. Emil Bertelli, Frank Davison, Del Fehl, and Jerry Summers as "Huntmasters."

The "Huntmasters" in turn are trying to secure "Hunters" to go out to shoot "Rabbits" for their respective "hutches." All those who secure a new member will be declared "Champion Marksmen" and will be eligible to attend a "Hassenpfeffer" dinner (which we presume in plain English means rabbit stew) at the termination of the campaign on March 15.

Mr. Rae further stated that so far Del Fehl had the most "rabbits" in his hutch, and that any member who was not attending the meetings lately was missing a lot of fun, since Bugs Bunny in person may be seen romping around and chewing the carpet of the Aerie meeting room to the amusement of those trying to keep their minds on official business.

Police To Curb Mass Evacuation

FEB. 1.—(CNS)—Police measures were threatened today in the event of atomic attack to keep people from fleeing from the attack area.

Major General Walter M. Robertson, state director of civil defense, in a warning against flight from the area declared that under all circumstances "unorganized mass evacuation must be prevented."

"If the advice is disregarded," he said, "we'll be forced to take police measures if necessary, to save people from themselves." Pointing out that mass evacuation poses dangers far more serious than the atomic bomb itself, the general said there is no reason for panicky flight after an attack.

"When the attack is over, when the bomb has struck, when fires are burning and buildings are falling, there will be two kinds of people among the living, the injured and uninjured."

"The injured won't be able to move and there will be no reason for the uninjured to move. They should stay and help the injured and facilitate the movement of rescue teams into the area."

Robertson said that if people take flight, they will only clog roads, impede and prevent use of disaster corps units and block arrival of help from mobile support units.

As an illustration of chaos that might be expected in mass exodus from a city, the general pointed out that if all the cars in San Francisco left the area, the first would be in Salt Lake City, 750 miles away, before the last car was still crossing the bay bridge.

Child Labor standards were written into the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act in 1936 and the Federal wage and hour law in 1938.

The Federal wage and hour law authorized the issuance of orders regulating industrial home work.

Meet Your City Officials

A Man With The Will To Do Good, And To Make Money And Friends -- Fred Bertetta

Fred Bertetta, the hard working, jolly, idealistic, burly city councilman is a man whose high spirits often belie a grasp of the world which at 11 gave him a four figure bank account.

Most of the people who first meet the 37-year-old councilman are inclined to dismiss him as a "good fellow" who is too generous to be opinionated and too gentle to give anyone a bad time. This would prove that first impressions are usually at least half wrong.

No Model
Bertetta, who has never held himself up as a model for a saint, sinner or sage, is not greatly disturbed by the opinions of friends or enemies. "I try to get along with everyone, as long as they are above board," he remarks often.

The term "above board," as understood by his friends, is an honest, straight forward attempt to leave the world a little better than he found it, both in business and politics. A number of those friends are quick to point out that since Bertetta has been a councilman there has been a noted improvement in recreation facilities and a decline in some of the more obvious rackets.

Accusations
On the other hand, enemies have accused him of the usual sins associated in America with a successful business man or politician. Again, this doesn't bother the alarmingly frank councilman. "I've made mistakes, but, brother, I'm doing my best to help this city. Anyone that's got a gripe should come and see me."

As a councilman, Bertetta is, by nature, excessively anxious to please. He has also acquired a reputation as a "soft touch" for loans. His wallet is as full of IOUs as bills. And when it comes to a cup of coffee or a three course dinner, he is the first to pick up the check.

Judgment
It seems safe to say that Bertetta, for those reasons, has been the recipient of as much praise and abuse as any man on the city council. It is too bad, for those who truthfully understand the man believe he is the closest thing to an ideal councilman the city has had in years.

The fact that Bertetta's formal education was brief lead many to believe that for all his good nature, he isn't too bright. The fallacy of this first judgment is counteracted, if success financially is any measure, by another less known facet of Bertetta's ability. "He could make money on a rock," one of the Lagomarsino brothers noted.

Money Maker
An ability to turn just about anything into money has been the greatest shaping influence of Bertetta's life. In the formative years, when he played baseball for Jefferson elementary school and later as a blooming track star for Jefferson High School, he achieved a dream rarely realized by men of 65... he had a "healthy" bank account.

"I started early buying cows from a dairy," Bertetta recalls. "By the time I was in the sixth grade I had a herd of nine milkers and was delivering milk through-out Colma."

Junk To Cows
The horse and wagon he used to deliver the milk had earlier been used to pick up junk from various and sundry places. The junk he sold to buy more cows. "Not that I had to work. My father had a nursery, and we were doing alright. But I've always had the urge to make money, to hustle. I don't know why, but it was just there."

The elder Bertetta was an Italian emigrant who stopped off in Colma in 1900. He liked Colma, and a few years later opened a nursery. He raised three children, Fred; Ray, who is now in the gasoline business with Fred; and Norma.

Branch Opened
By the time Bertetta was seven, the nursery business was prospering and Fred had opened a "branch" on the main highway. He found that come football time he could sell properly decorated flowers to racoon coated college students for as much as 50 cents a bloom. That was the beginning of the bank account which carried him through the junk business, the dairy concern and later to the management of his father's nursery.

When Bertetta was 15 he quit high school and took over the job of buyer for the nursery. Two years later, 1930, his father was killed in an automobile accident. For the next two years Bertetta managed the nursery, and then in 1932 he sold out the business and bought into the J. C. Castor Co., distributors of Rio Grande Gas. Today he and his brother Ray both own a good share of the business which Bertetta candidly admits is doing "pretty well."

Equally At Home
In a Ford runabout or behind the wheel of one of the company's big trucks, Bertetta covers the territory serviced by his organization. He is just as apt to be wearing a pair of greasy, overalls one day as a neatly pressed suit the next. This varied dress is indicative of his view of people. He is equally at home with a ditch digger, or, as recently demonstrated, at a banquet in honor of Henry Doelger. It was at this banquet that he explained his recent move from Colma to Westlake. Called on for a few words, Bertetta boomed, "I needed a home in Westlake, like I needed a hole in the head. But my wife. Well, she wanted it, so here I am."

Wedding Bells
Sounding a more serious note, Bertetta explained that his Westlake home at 10 Wilshire Court was one of the proudest achievements of his life. He noted that it was about the closest thing to his "ideal" home as possible, especially an addition which includes a recreation room for his children.

In 1933 Bertetta was married to Pauline Grado, a petite, beautiful young lady from Springfield, Illinois. Taking up residence at 98 W. Cavour they had two children.

The youngest, 11, is named Geraldine, "Jerry" for short, and the oldest, 14, is named Fred, after his father.

While he considers himself lucky in love, and is far from superstitious, Bertetta has more than a passing interest in the number "13." He was born September 13, 1913, and the combination evidently has played a big part in his life. "When I ran for the council back in 1948, I was elected on April 13 by 13 precincts. My draft number was 1313."

No 13
Death, also, flirted with Bertetta under the sign of "13." It was March 13, 1926, that he was blown sky high, literally, in a gas explosion. "I was putting gas into a car. The fumes were ignited by one of those old fashioned lantern tail lights. I think I went up 13 feet before I came back to the hard, hard ground."

It was 13 months after this accident that Bertetta finally got back on his feet. He almost went under for the second time September 13, 1931, when driving a car down Bayshore a truck hit him head on. "I saw it coming and jumped into the back seat. A second later the driver's wheel was kicking my back... it was pushed forward, right through the front seat."

Returning to another "13" in his life, Bertetta sometimes wonders just how lucky he was to be elected to the council April 13, 1948. "That one move has cost me more money than maybe it was worth," Bertetta says.

Expensive
He points out the recent trip to Washington, D. C., to save the community center. "The trip was well worth it, possibly the best thing I have ever done, but I paid the way."

Carrying on an almost one man campaign to "clean up" the town, Bertetta has urged time and time again that residents who know of some flagrant racket operating in Daly City speak to him. Friends are certain that he is sincere in this effort, and assert that Bertetta alone is responsible for closing down a half dozen bookie joints in the Daly City area.

He Means It
"I mean what I say," Bertetta reiterates time and time again. "I got into office on a campaign for a better recreation system and annexation of Westlake. These have been accomplished. But I'm still working on the third campaign promise... clean up the town."

It is to be supposed that any man who works actively against crime is bound to have enemies. Bertetta is no exception. "But I figure I make more friends, and I figure, who is worrying about bums as enemies?"

This crusading spirit was evident when Bertetta took over the position of clerk of the Jefferson Elementary school board in 1945. Today, there are many who may doubt the validity of some of his actions on the board, but none can honestly doubt his sincerity.

Little Time
Between politics and business, Bertetta has little time for pleasure; although "pleasure" possibly isn't the proper word as Bertetta considers making friends and money the pleasure of his life. Nevertheless, when he has the time, he and young Fred go hunting or hiking, preferably in the Yosemite country.

Summing up his life to date, Bertetta asserts his principal desire now is to retire young. This is a common dream of every man, but the paradox is that Bertetta is one man who financially could retire young, but one man who won't quit.

This is probably for the benefit of the community, for it was the wise philosopher who noted that a man beyond temptation spiritually and financially is the ideal public servant. And the philosopher well might have had such a man as Bertetta in mind when he concluded: "But beyond temptation, a politician with the will to do good is a personality that is a blessing, indeed, to any community."

the other until man, the sophisticated, arrives at the point where only sought for stimuli can again open for him the vistas of real life. He now needs a crutch, usually false prophets, to regain the sight, the sensations of the child.

Ground this theory in reality. Today you have breathed, existed for one of the days allotted to you in your short span of life. How much of the day can you now remember; how many of the hours can you recapture; how many of the minutes were meaningful? Chances are you can remember nothing but a day telescoped into eight hours of toil to earn the dollars necessary to buy the products to take you through similar days, similar weeks and similar years.

He Is Right
Carry this to the extreme and the sage is literally correct when he notes we are all "dead."

Now ask the child of his day. He will tell you, often with alarming accuracy of sensation, if not fact, the minutest, apparently meaningless hours of his existence. Yet, endowed with awareness and beauty, he will tell of playing a game, or walking down a street with the fervor of an explorer back from a jaunt over the seven seas.

Pocket Edition
And yet, he, like you, is a man... a "small edition," but a man. He is you to be, and you were he as was. He is alive, and you are "dead."

This is the eternal marvel of children for adults. Through the eyes of the child the world is seen as it really is, in all its beauty and grandeur. To listen to a child's words, to watch his actions, is to come alive, to become aware for only a brief moment of the life that is no longer yours.

Perhaps if occasionally we would remember that as children we lived, we could return in mind to that state of happiness which is based on the child's concept of the world... awareness of the world. For to be aware of beauty and truth is to be aware of life.

While we are on children, we think of one young man who has failed to learn that diplomacy is often better than truth in a world of men. Introduced to him recently, he accosted us with a malicious smirk. "Say, you're almost as ugly as my dog."

We hastily looked at the pooch, and were inclined to agree. We smiled evilly, and asked him why the sudden statement concerning the relative merits of appearances. "Ah, my mother says you've got a talk like a bull dog. But I don't think you could sound like my dog. You only look like 'em."

That kid and I are getting along fine these days. I haven't spoken to his mother in a week.

Every cloud, even one set off by an atomic blast, has a silver lining. That is the opinion of a Los Angeles business man who this week opened a plant to manufacture ready-made A-bomb shelters. He may make a fortune, unless someone comes along with an H-bomb and antiquates his product. But, then, there always is a certain amount of gamble in any new financial enterprise.

More About City Admin. Officer

Green Wednesday evening. The new city administrative officer will take over March 1. He will receive $500 a month, $100 more than now paid Wendling.

A resident of Broadmoor for the past three years, Andersen has made many friends in the Daly City area. He is a native of Tacoma, attended the College of Puget Sound, and has been employed for the past 15 years by the Golden Theatre Company.

He is the father of three children, Dan Jr., 10, Richard, 8, and Sharon, 4.

Pledges Help
"I will do my best to serve the people of Daly City," Andersen said today. "I hope each and every citizen will look upon me as a public servant who will earnestly attempt to assist them in every way possible."

As city administrative officer, Andersen will be called on to coordinate various city activities, and serve as a "helping hand" to the council.

Good Record
Meanwhile, Wendling said he had no immediate plans for the future.

Coming here from Mountain View where he was assistant superintendent of public works, Wendling took office July 17. His resignation was dated January 26.

During his brief stay with Daly City, Wendling was instrumental in having parking meters installed; setting up a new system of city records; leading the fight for an improved city library, and advocating a chamber of commerce.

A CHAMBER MEANS MONEY SAVED

Merchants who assert a chamber of commerce might be too expensive...take note.

Some of you are opposed to parking meters. Some are in favor of meters. Those in opposition are spending good money circulating petitions of objection. Those in favor are spending valuable time talking for the meters.

When the parking meter ordinance was passed, not one merchant was present.

Now, with a chamber of commerce at your command, the meter fight would have been settled before it even started. The chamber would have advised you of the ordinance, would have called a meeting to discuss the city's proposition. In this way, you could have fought out the whole proposition in one evening. The expense, both in money and time, would have been saved by a chamber of commerce.

Many business men assert they have no voice in Daly City government; say it would have been useless to object to the parking meters when the ordinance was introduced.

This fallacious thinking would have been stamped out by a chamber of commerce. A chamber is the strength of the community, both political and economic. It is a public servant dedicated to helping not only the merchants, but every member of the community.

Wise up. It's about time the merchants took definite steps to establish a chamber of commerce. The cost of the parking meter controversy for one week probably would have been enough to pay a director for one month.

APATHY IS STRONGER THAN BARB WIRE

Someday it would be a good idea to throw up a barb wire fence around the city council chambers and dare the public to enter.

It would be wise for all city government to be confined behind the impenetrable fence, with only occasional orders issued for the "benefit" of the residents on the outside. Better, still, when election time came around all voting would be confined to names chosen by the men on the inside.

These measures, totalitarian in reality, might jar the complacent attitude of Daly City's 15,000 residents. "Might" is the proper word, for at the present rate of attendance at council meetings it would take a good year before the word got around that anything unusual had happened at city hall.

Granted, this is the extreme, but public ignorance, lack of interest, is a greater barrier to true democracy than any barb wire fence. Cushioned in the knowledge that they act without public surveillance, city officials act often unwisely.

But words are cheap, and you who have taken the time to read this far will go no further than the front room sofa when the city council meets February 12. It is too simple to attend a council meeting, too "dry" to be interesting.

We wonder what the reaction might be if barb wire surrounded city hall. We wonder how many would take the time to rally to tear it down.

Believing in liberty, we are certain the 15,000 residents that are Daly City would turn out in mass to remove the barrier to democracy.

Multiplying a score of times, an unattended council meeting is as dangerous as a barb wire fence.

A SUGGESTION FOR THE RED CROSS

Red Cross week was proclaimed by the city for February 5 to 10.

This is in preparation for a funds drive to begin February 15. The proclamation also is a reminder that next Thursday, February 8, the Red Cross is calling on women volunteers to assist in the funds campaign.

Everyone knows the work being done by the Red Cross, but not everyone is so eager to give when the time comes. Consequently, we would advise a type of funds drive in Daly City similar to the March of Dimes campaign in San Francisco. That funds drive was concentrated on one evening. Those who wished to give were instructed to turn on their front porch lights.

This resulted in many thousands of dollars being collected painlessly, and with the least amount of effort. Instead of a drive dragging on for many weeks, it was over, for the most part, in one evening.

We would like to see a similar thing done in Daly City for the coming Red Cross drive.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

by Henry C. MacArthur

SACRAMENTO—(CNS) — It's seldom that a first class personal feud between legislators breaks into the open, as legislative throat-splitting is confined largely to more delicate methods of mayhem, such as applying the knife to a bill at the proper time and place.

But when a feud does break out, it at least livens up the legislative session to the point where nobody knows what happens next. "Feudin'" fightin' and fussin'" at the present are Speaker of the Assembly Sam Collins, of Orange County, and State Senator Jack B. Tenney, of Los Angeles. The closing hours of the first half saw tempers reach the boiling point, but the flare-up failed to reach the fistfight stage.

Samish Again
Senator Tenney's Anti-Arthur Samish complex apparently was responsible. Tenney, discussing on the senate floor the matter of lobbyist registration, made the remark that he had no desire to see administration in the hands of a "Samish dominated" man.

Although no names were mentioned, it developed that John Collins, brother of the Speaker, is hired by the Legislative Auditor's Office, and was assigned the task of registering lobbyists.

When Brother Sam banged the gavel to call the house to order for the final first half session, the rap had the mark of authority, and Collins from his podium called the sergeant-at-arms to instruct the rules committee to bring in a resolution abolishing the legislative budget committee.

Announcement
The rules committee retired to executive session, and shortly Randal Dickey, chairman, returned to the chambers, announcing that both the committee and the speaker were "misinformed," and that there would be no resolution. He took occasion to laud the Senate Lobbyist Credential Committee and Legislative Auditor A. Alan Post for doing a good job and investigating thoroughly all employees involved in the lobby registration procedure.

And although the affair was smoothed over as far as the public is concerned, Tenney later announced on the senate floor that "Speaker Collins says he'll kill everything in the assembly with my name on it. He's killed my resolution" (a congratulatory resolution to General Douglas MacArthur on his birthday). Tenney then asked the senate to make the resolution a senate affair only, instead of a joint resolution, and this was done.

Little Attention
For the moment, at least, little attention will be paid to the Collins-Tenney affair, and legislators both have until March 12 to cool off. What happens when the session reconvenes can be determined only by watching what happens to Tenney's bills and resolutions in the assembly.

The battle calls to mind an affair of 20 years ago during the 1931 legislative session when resentment ran so high against a speaker of the house that fists were threatened.

It was during the legislative reapportionment fight which resulted in transfer of control of the assembly from the San Francisco delegation to Los Angeles. Edgar Levy of San Francisco was speaker.

Fred Houser, now a Los Angeles Superior Court Judge and then a sipping assemblyman, resented a ruling by Levy. Houser marched up the aisle, followed by several of the Los Angeles delegation, and threatened to punch Levy in the nose.

Experience won out, however, for before Houser reached the speaker's seat, the veteran speaker adjourned the assembly and left the chambers.

State Affairs

California Events During Past Week

The Governor is in Chicago, Ill., attending a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Conference of Governors, being held on matters of Civilian Defense; met with the State Fish and Game Commission and legislators on re-organization where it was decided the executive officer should be appointed by the governor with approval of the commission; attend the Television Academy Awards in Los Angeles, and signed three routine bills as a result of the legislative session.

The Legislature would up the first half of the 1951 session, with a record number of 5,167 bills introduced—more bills in a shorter time than ever before; adopted a measure granting state employees a five per cent increase in pay retroactive to January 1; made an appropriation of $1,300,000 to assist counties repair flood damage; provided $900,000 for a state highway patrol building, and $5,500,000 to finance a department of motor vehicles building in Sacramento.

In addition to the record number of bills introduced, which cover almost every problem in the state, 71 constitutional amendments, 26 joint resolutions and 56 concurrent resolutions are before the two houses. The state's lawmakers will return to Sacramento March 12 and dig into the monumental task of considering all the proposals.

Meanwhile, the assembly ways and means committee is holding budget hearings to give governor Warren's billion, seventeen million budget a head start when the two houses reconvene.

The Departments: Civil Defense warned people to stay home during an atomic bombing, and not attempt mass exodus from congested areas, stating such exodus would cause more confusion and chaos than remaining, where citizens might be of some help.

Red Cross Board Elects Officers

An organizational meeting of the new Board of Directors of the San Mateo County Chapter, American Red Cross was held Monday night at the Chapter House in Burlingame.

Thirty eight were in attendance. Election of officers was the main business of the meeting.

Unanimously elected to office for the ensuing year were Dan Minto, chapter chairman, Norman J. Corlett, first vice-chairman, Miss Evelyn Barron second vice-chairman, Mrs. George Davis, secretary, L. H. Hansen, treasurer, and Harry Blacher, assistant treasurer.

The next regular Board meeting was called for the evening of Feb. 12 at the chapter house. A voice vote of appreciation for a job well done was accorded William H. Taylor, retiring Chapter Chairman.

College Credits Given At Night

The City College of San Francisco now offers free evening classes which grant full credit toward college degrees.

There is a wide range of subjects to choose from—astronomy, engineering, floriculture, the arts, business administration, and many others. The City College of San Francisco is the only evening college in the Bay Area that offers you the laboratory sciences—chemistry and physics.

High school graduates or persons over 18 years of age are eligible to enroll now. Veterans who must attend college during the spring semester to preserve their eligibility for GI benefits should enroll in one or more extension courses. Instruction begins Monday evening, February 5th. For additional information write the City College of San Francisco, San Francisco 12, or phone JUniper 7-7272.

HOW ABOUT THOSE PINBALL MACHINES?

Number of lads and lassies under 18 counted playing pin ball machines in local establishments after 10 p. m. Tuesday night: 14.

Number of High School students playing pin ball machines in another local establishment during lunch hour Tuesday: 22.

These are the facts and figures.

At the present time there appears to be no effort by parents or civic officials to put an end to this type of thing. Perhaps they do not consider it serious enough, or are in sympathy with the young "suckers" who plunge lunch money into pin ball machines.

We would think this might be worthy of some investigation by the local gendarmes and the Parent Teachers Association.

KATHLEEN NORRIS Marriage Income

A TENNESSEE WOMAN, Alice Marble, writes me of her distress over her 18-year-old daughter's determination to marry. She says that a recent article of mine gave Gwen such encouragement that she has become quite unmanageable.

"You said that couples could be married on an income as low as $100 a month," writes Mrs. Marble. "You certainly can know very little of conditions today if you can advise young people to take any such risk. Gwen's fiancé is just past 19; he gets $25 a week. The way rents are here now they couldn't rent more than a room for that. Gwen's father and I are divorced; he cannot help, and my present husband and I have two small girls to care for, and an uncertain income. Gwen is very pretty, dainty about her clothes and the care of her room, but she has had no training in cooking or housework, and knows nothing of the value of money.

"We used all the arguments and pleading we can think of, but Gwen is determined to ruin her life and jump into marriage without the slightest idea of what she is doing. I would like to ask you how many youngsters of these ages you have known who did marry on such an income in these days of high prices? Do you know what you're talking about?"

Daring Beginnings
For one answer to this reproach I would like to show Alice Marble some of the scores of letters that that article brought me. Not in years have I had such a rush of replies. Most of them come from middle-aged couples who took the chance years ago, and enjoyed the adventure of working their way up from daring beginnings to success and plenty.

And by success and plenty I don't mean the sensational top-

ers who accumulated great fortunes, I mean the hundreds and thousands—yes, millions among us who started with nothing and had all the fun and excitement of conquering poverty and uncertainty, all the trials and disappointments and humiliations that rigid financial limits impose.

Yes, and all the fun, too. The two-room home high up long flights of stairs in a big city; the marketing at push carts with every tomato and half pound of lean beef precious; the museums and concert halls and galleries, all free; the long walks, the happy associations over dinners of spaghetti in basement restaurants; the long walks along crowded piers and through bustling streets, or in the green shade of the parks.

And then the beginnings of success. The poem or the story sold; the understudy part secured, the humble job of correcting proof in a magazine office, the miracle of selling the radio serial. "All at once," said a bushy-headed friend of ours years ago, "All at once Sara's got a backer for her play and I've sold my patent that you all thought was so crackpot for sixty grand."

"Sounds like the beginning of good times!" someone said, after we had all gasped awhile.

Never Recovered Happiness
"Sounds like the end of them," he predicted firmly. And he was right. Sara couldn't stand success, and he couldn't stand wealth, and neither ever recovered happiness. They had had eleven joyous impetuous hard-working years together; perhaps that's as much felicity as any of us deserves.

To be sure, not all such couples achieve world fame or great riches. But gradually, energetic, ambitious men and women win their places. These places may be in kitchens making jam for the market, in lofts making aprons, in publishing houses reading manuscripts, in big firms directing advertising art; inconspicuous success is nevertheless success, and the fruits of it are sweet.

So the truth appears to be that there is no income upon which the right man and woman may not marry.

Gwen's mother would do better to concern herself with regrets that she didn't build in Gwen a stronger character. She would do better to start now to teach her how to cook and let her run the family finances for a month or two. Gwen has been badly spoiled, and no matter how angelic a nature her 19-year-old husband can claim, he can't possibly make a success of this marriage. Not with Gwen, very dainty about her personal appearance, but entirely ignorant of the method of making necklamb into a stew or using up sour milk.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS Brunt of New Tax Program Likely To Fall on Lower Income Groups; Korean Evacuation Debate Rages

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Bitter battles raged in Korea as North Korean and Chinese Communist troops continued pressure all along the line. United Nations forces retreated slowly toward the Pusan beachhead (dotted line) and what seemed possible evacuation of that war-torn country.

TAXES:

Era of Austerity

President Truman drew gasps from Wall street in his message to congress in which he asked an increase in taxes of "more" than $8 billion a year and outlined a defense program totaling $140 billion. He also called for broader wage-price controls, one million more men and women in the armed forces within a few months, and four million more in defense production by the end of 1951.

But what made the little man want to crawl into a hole was the President's tax program. The brunt of that increase would fall on the middle-to-lower income taxpayer.

Some of Mr. Truman's critics said his program would mean an era of austerity for the American people. Some said they thought the President was "hysterical" and others said he had thrown the American standard of living out the window.

Although the nation was shocked by the President's message, Americans in every walk of life were beginning to understand the scope of the program we have undertaken. Most people realized to carry out that program a great increase in taxes would be necessary—possibly the highest in United States history. It became increasingly clear, too, that such items as automobiles, electric refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, television and radio sets will not be available in such abundance to the American public as in recent years. Production of these items may be cut by one-third to well over one-half before the year is over.

By the end of 1951 the United States will be devoting about 18 per cent of its national output to defense. At the peak of World War II about 45 per cent of the nation's output was for defense.

CIVIL DEFENSE:

Truman Signs Bill

President Truman signed the civilian defense bill enacted in the closing days of the last congress which provides a defense program estimated to cost about $3,100,000,000.

The measure directs the federal governments to provide leadership to the states and communities in developing arrangements to protect civilian life and property in the country's 10 critical target areas against possible enemy attack by atomic bombs, biological or bacteriological warfare or any other technique.

The bill requires states to match federal funds provided for air raid constructions. It received some criticism.

Governor Dewey of New York, for instance, said his state simply could not find the $249,000,000 indicated as its need.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURE

Farm Efficiency and Assets at Peak

The department of agriculture estimates American agriculture's total assets at the beginning of 1951 at $134 billion, two and one-half times the total of a decade ago. Much of it represented gains in tangible possessions and in cash savings.

At the beginning of this year, farmers as a group held nearly $22 billion in bank deposits, currency,

Poster Boy

Twelve-year-old Robert Lawrence "Larry" McKenzie, Jr., 1951 March of Dimes poster boy, proudly displays President Truman's autograph. The boy visited the chief executive on the opening day of the nationwide drive for funds to finance the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation.

KOREA:

Evacuation Inevitable

Bitter battles raged in Korea as United Nations forces continued their retreat toward Pusan and what seemed inevitable evacuation of that war-torn country.

And while the battles raged in Korea, bitter debate continued in Washington as to whether or not U.N. forces should evacuate the peninsula. There were rumors in military circles, too, that the U.S. had decided on a stand in Korea.

To the average man in the United States, to the people in the home towns of America, who are anything but defeatists, the Washington debates seemed ironic. The average American was counting the odds, estimated now at five to one, and which the Chinese can increase at will. In recent weeks there has been considerable confusion and a number of contradictions as to the actual number of Chinese troops thrown against U.N. forces.

To many the question now seemed to be whether or not U.N. troops could successfully withdraw to the Pusan beachhead and carry out an evacuation. The situation was described like this: Now it's a question of saving face or saving our hides—and we'd better save our hides. We'll need them in the future against the Communists.

The United States army in Korea is the only one this nation has at present and it must form the core of the new army we have dedicated ourselves to building in an effort to preserve our democratic way of life. Attempting to hold in Korea would risk this army—too great a risk in the opinion of many observers.

Whatever the decision, one thing the average American will tell the world: Man-for-man, the North Korean and Chinese soldier is no match for a well trained American soldier. And any victory in Korea will cost the North Koreans and Chinese dearly.

POLITICS:

Matter of Tradition

Critics of President Truman's foreign policy, led by Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, charged the President "violated the laws and the constitution of the United States" by sending troops to Korea and Europe without congressional approval.

In the last few weeks the thunder of debate on the subject has rolled through the halls of congress. It is not, however, a new theme.

The issue of the President's right to send troops to carry out obligations of the country arose in the administrations of Washington, John Adams, Jefferson, Jackson, Tyler, Polk, Lincoln, Grant, McKinley, Taft, Wilson and the late Franklin Roosevelt.

And in every case the issue was settled in favor of the President, namely, that it is his sworn duty to carry out the obligations of the United States.

In this particular case, when the senate ratified the North Atlantic treaty it made the obligations of that treaty law, binding on the President of the United States. Certain articles of the treaty bind the North Atlantic nations to united effort to maintain the security of the North Atlantic area, including the use of armed force if necessary.

It is these articles of the treaty that the President is upholding in sending troops to Europe. If the congress should deny the President the right to use troops or arms abroad, then certain articles of the treaty become meaningless.

In the few cases where similar questions have reached the Supreme Court, the President has been upheld in his action. It would seem, therefore, that Senator Taft's attack, therefore, can not succeed in the face of tradition.

CROPS:

Prospects Not Bright

The agriculture department reported 1951 crop prospects not so bright as they might be for attaining the government's goal of a record harvest.

Shortages of soil moisture in important southwestern wheat areas, prospects of less irrigation water from snows, freeze damage to fall-sown grain crops in the south, loss of farm labor to the armed services and industry, and the prospects of shortages of repair parts for farm machinery were listed as having an effect on production.

The farmers of the nation face a production quota greater than any ever demanded in this country. Increased grain production is needed to rebuild surpluses which have dwindled in the last two years. In addition to rebuilding surpluses, the United States must assume the responsibility of feeding much of the world if open conflict breaks out between the east and west.

ARMED FORCES:

Goal Increased 260,000

Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant to Secretary of Defense Marshall, told the armed services subcommittee that the goal of the nation's fighting forces had been increased 260,000 by June 30.

The armed forces had been working on a program of 3,200,000 by June 30. Army, navy, air force, and marine officials urged the drafting of 18 year olds. Unless the draft age is lowered, Mrs. Rosenberg said married men and fathers, and possibly some veterans, would have to be drafted to meet the expanded quota.

Meanwhile, the FBI reported it had investigated nearly 9,000 cases of alleged violations of the draft law during the last six months. The bureau was reportedly receiving more than 2,200 such cases for inquiry every month.

More Men

Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant defense secretary in charge of manpower, told a senate armed services subcommittee that President Truman had increased the goal for the armed services from 3,200,000 to 3,462,205 men by June 30. She said the increase would require the drafting of 18 year olds.

BUILDING:

Thirty Day Freeze

The government clamped down on the construction of new commercial buildings, prohibiting the starting of virtually all such new projects until February 15.

After the freeze period, each private new commercial building project must be submitted to the national production authority for approval. The NPA said the ban was necessary to save materials for mobilization.

Tag Day To Be Held February 18 -- A Unique Salmon Fishing Venture

Tag Day—the unique salmon fishing venture sponsored each year by the Division of Fish and Game, the San Francisco Tye Club, and the Golden Gate Sports Fishers—will be held Sunday, February 18, according to the State agency.

Several hundred anglers and biologists on a score of sport fishing boats will head out the Golden Gate in the inevitable morning fog. Object: to catch as many salmon as possible.

But the day long fishing orgy will be strictly in the interests of conservation. As each fish is boated, it will be tagged with a pair of plastic discs and returned unharmed to the water.

Later, as the tags are returned to the Division of Fish and Game, biologists will know just a little more about the habits of California's salmon. Commercial or sport fishermen who return the tags from the fish they catch will be contributing to the knowledge of fish migrations, growth rate, and relative population size.

Some of this year's tag numbers will be secretly recorded, and when returned become eligible for cash prizes offered by the Tye Club. Awards ranging in value from $5 to $25 have been given cooperating fishermen in the last year. Each California fisherman who returns a salmon tag is issued a commendation card by the State Division.

Marine Biologist Eldon Hughes is in charge of the annual event. He announced an alternate date of February 25 if weather conditions prevent operations on February 18.

Garden Gateway Fight

Highway District Overcomes Sledge Hammers By Extending Safety Island

Safety and the Joint Highway District No. 10 had the final word this week in a controversy over Garden Gateway.

Last year a group of residents from Garden Village made short work of an effort by the District to block off Garden Lane with a curb on Junipero Serra boulevard. One night the residents took sledge hammers and removed the curb.

The district explained the curb had been put up to prevent traffic from cutting north from Garden Gateway into Junipero Serra boulevard. For, in order to go north from this street, it was necessary for motorists to cross traffic coming south.

Real Danger

The district argued this was a real danger, and would be much better for residents to go a few

Plug-In Light New Auto Idea

A portable spotlight, that plugs into the automobile cigarette lighter (arrow, lower right) and furnishes brilliant illumination, is introduced by Chevrolet in its 1951 accessory line. Demonstrated here by Marjorie Zupner, the chrome-plated light comes with enough wire for use all around the car as a trouble lamp, or as a spotlight from inside the car.

ARE SIX LEGS BETTER THAN TWO? ANSWER GIVEN AT JEFF THURSDAY

Come Thursday, February 8, and a score of men at Jefferson High School will hope they are the prize donkey of Daly City.

Well, that may not quite be right; but at least those participating in donkey basketball will hope they have the best four legged animals to ride.

The participants in the novel sport include members of the Daly City-Colma and the High School faculty members.

The fun gets underway at 8 p.m., and the public is urged to attend, if only to see a donkey make a fool out of a Lion.

Following is the two legged line-up for the big game: Gil O'Shaughnessy, Grant Williams, Joe Belli, Arnold Panella, Elio Fontana, Joe Lewkowicz, John Grandy, Tom Laramie. The Lion reserves include: Elton McGraw, Doc Karsant, Walt Lehigh, Bill

Sunderland, Doc Budaeff and Mel Battye.

Faculty members to ride out to war are: Howard Miguel, Truman Pfeffer, Joe Vollbrecht, Vic Bin-sacca, Tom Redmond, William Reynolds, Don Belum, Joe Lasse-guns. Held in reserve will be John Morgan and Stanford Han-nah.

Regular Ball While the donkeys and their riders are preparing for the big battle, a regulation game of basketball will be played between the Jefferson coaches and intermural champions.

Playing on their two feet for the school will be: Glenn South, Clarence Lair, Joe McGrath, Mike Orlich, John Matthew and Elman Rose. Opposing the coaches will be: Jim Hatchel, Bill Allen, Don Walton, Roy Huntsman, Steve Miller and Bill Murphy.

Junior Basketball

Jefferson 'A' Team Squeaks Past O.L.P.H. For One Point Victory Last Thursday

By ERLE JOHNSON

Last Thursday night the Jefferson A team got the scare of its current season when the O.L.P.H. team just missed beating them in the closing minutes of their game.

The O.L.P.H. team was leading 28-17 with about ten seconds remaining to be played, but thanks to Al Figone's side shot from about ten feet out the Jeff's won 29-28. This was by far the most exciting game played thus far this season.

The loser's played their best game to date, and if this game was indicative of the type of game they will play this week against Crocker the latter will be in for an evening of good basketball.

Murphy played his usual game and took top honors for his team with eight points, followed by Walagore, Fontana and Machado with six points each. Gonzales scored two points and Kennedy went scoreless to give O.L.P.H. 28 points.

Income Tax Headaches

Internal Revenue Collector Explains Basic Rules For Filling Out Returns

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles prepared by Revenue, James G. Smyth of the First California District outlining rules and regulations governing the preparation and filing of 1950 Federal Income Tax returns.

For the average individual, the basic rules and regulations for the preparation and filing of income tax returns under the new income tax act of 1950 are practically the same as last year.

The most important tax provisions of the new act may be classified as, Revenue, Remedial, and Relief. The Revenue provisions will produce more tax dollars; the Remedial provisions are designed primarily to correct abuses and block loopholes in the preparation and filing of corporation returns; and the Relief provisions will tend to alleviate the impact of taxation under certain conditions.

New Bills The majority of taxpayers will be concerned in the Revenue provisions of the new tax bills.

Effective on 1950 earnings, the majority of taxpayers will find their tax liability has increased approximately five per cent.

This increase is accounted for by decreasing the amount of tax reduction on the sur-tax. The new reduction from the tentative tax is: 13 per cent on the first $400, plus 9 per cent on the tax in excess of $400, but under $100,000, and 7.3 per cent on the tax over $100,000.

The personal exemption allowance of $600 for each individual remains the same.

Every individual who received $600 of taxable income in 1950, must file a return by March 15.

Regulations issued under the Federal wage-hour law bans children under 18 being employed in or about plants manufacturing explosives.

The U. S. Bureau of Apprenticeship stresses the fact apprenticeship training programs are available for adults as well as for youths.

Supervisors Urged To Consider New County Courts

FEB. 2—(CNS)—San Mateo county supervisors are being urged by the state judicial council to make recommendations for a municipal court setup in the county, which may be acted upon at this session of the state legislature.

Senators Harry Parkman, of San Mateo county, and Jack Tenney, Los Angeles, have introduced a series of bills which may be used by the county when the legislature reconvenes March 12.

The bills, in skeleton form, provide for the districting of the county for municipal courts, and also for courts in Redwood city, Daly City, South San Francisco, San Bruno, Burlingame, and San Mateo.

The bills are necessary, said Paul Peek, judge of the Third District Court of Appeals, in the event supervisors desire to take advantage of the provisions of the constitutional amendment voted by the people at the last general election providing for a municipal court system.

Peek said, however, that during the first half of the legislative session, no recommendations as to districts, numbers of judges, and salaries of judges and attaches, had been made by any county supervisors.

The judicial council, he said, caused the skeleton bills to be introduced in anticipation of such recommendations.

Beer Sale Legal Where Liquor Out

FEB. 1.—(CNS)—Sale of 3.2 beer within the areas surrounding universities, veterans homes and other state institutions where stronger liquor is prohibited, is entirely legal, Attorney General Edmund G. Brown ruled today.

The ruling came as the result of a request from the State Board of Equalization, which over-ruled a protest against issuance of a license with the mile limit surrounding the University of California campus at Berkeley.

Hugh Strachan, attorney for the board, said the ruling upholds a long established practice of the board in granting beer and wine licenses within the mile limit at Berkeley; three miles at the Davis campus; a mile and a half around Stanford; a mile and a half around Santa Clara and a mile and half around the University of Southern California, as well as within a mile of veterans homes, at Yountville and Sausalito.

The Berkeley protest was on the grounds that the Alcoholic Beverage Act does not provide for issuance of a 3.2 beer license.

Strachan said the board construed the law to mean that sale of 3.2 beer is legal with the proper limits, and therefore, has granted on sale beer and off sale beer and wine licenses with the understanding that the licensee would not sell liquor stronger than 3.2 beer.

The board is advised, the opinion said, "that its administrative construction of the applicable statutes and the administrative practices carried out in accordance with such construction is within the intent of the applicable legislation, and that such licenses may be validly issued."

It has been estimated the San Francisco Bay Area uses about 600,000 acre feet of water annually.

Six small children were saved from death in the blazing inferno of their home, 169 Moltke street, by the quick action of the Daly City Fire Department early Sunday morning. The youngsters were lowered one at a time from the second-story window of their home. Also rescued were the parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Powell.

Twenty-eight young men from this district answered the nation's call to arms yesterday morning.

A TIP ON BRAKES

Occasionally when brake linings have worn unevenly the car owner will attempt to "get by" with having the most severely worn lining replaced, points out the National Automobile Club. This may be justifiable when all the linings are now and one has been burned through unequal adjustment. At no other time should it be done.

Jones Assails Negative Report On Reber Plan

Proctor Jones, chairman of the San Mateo County Committee for the Study of the San Francisco Bay Project (the Reber Plan) vigorously condemned the joint legislative committee on water problems today.

He claimed that the committee based its recent report on the effect of the barrier phase of the Reber Plan on mere assumption.

Jones said, "The committee swallowed Colonel Barton's assumption hook, line, and sinker. The Colonel is a member of the 'State House Bridge Building Gang.' Their statements have been prejudiced and uninformed. Their evident lack of judgment is costing the taxpayer of California an enormous amount of money."

No Testimony "The committee came to their decision without testimony from engineering experts familiar with the barrier phase of the Reber Plan," Jones asserted. "Had they called for such testimony they would have been shown through actual example how the 350,000 acres of productive delta farm lands could be protected from flood damage by the barrier idea."

Jones explained that a group of competent engineers have developed a practical method of controlling the fresh water level in the lakes and rivers through the use of large syphons and valves so that in anticipation of flow waters the level in the lake and river beds could be reduced to receive the added water in flood time. The barrier holding back the tide action makes this possible.

Bad Job "The committee has presented a report which assumes that the engineers and contractors are incapable of doing a job here which has been done in varying degrees in other parts of the world, Jones said. "One needs only to read the report of William Q. Wright of Los Gatos given at the Downey Hearing in San Francisco last year to see how completely unreasonable Barton's report is."

Jones added that this tax-supported state body should be more conscientious in its approach to California's vital water problem.

Crocker PTA To Review Past History At Meet

The executive board of the Crocker PTA met last Tuesday, January 30 at the home of Mrs. W. M. Cheatham.

Many plans for the end of the parent teacher year were discussed, and an extensive slate of recommendations will be presented to the group at the next regular meeting of the unit.

Colma Workers Union Demands Separate Contract

Colma graveyard workers this week opened talks on a new contract with the Association of Cemetery Workers, and it appeared there is going to be trouble before a settlement is reached.

Local 275, Cemetery and Green Attendants has requested that they be given a separate contract with the Association. As of February 28, the contract is in conjunction with the graveyard workers in Oakland.

"We feel our problems are different than those of the Oakland workers. Consequently we have asked for a separate agreement," a representative of the union said today.

However, at a meeting of employers and employees January 26, the Association turned thumbs down on a separate contract. The Association claims the contract should be for the whole Bay Area and not just for Colma.

Should the Association and workers become deadlocked, some 185 Colma workers will walk off the job February 28, the union spokesman indicated.

"Live" TV Shows May Come Soon

American Broadcasting Company has made the first move to provide San Francisco and the rest of California "live" TV shows from the East, it was reported here this week.

The company placed an order in New York for fulltime use of the TV transmission link between Omaha, Nebr., and San Francisco via Salt Lake City. Scheduled to begin operation late in the year, the link will complete the coast to coast microwave relay hook-up. Most of the 107 stations spotted between San Francisco and Omaha, about 32 miles apart, have been built and are ready for installation of equipment.

If the ABC order is accepted by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., according to Roy N. Buell, division manager here for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., it will not prevent other networks from using the same facilities. He said the microwave system permits simultaneous transmission of several telecasts.

In addition to bringing California TV fans the best of Eastern programs, completion of the system is expected to give a powerful boost to the West Coast's TV industry.

Monday Deadline To Get Licenses

FEB. 1.—(CNS) — With only three days more to go on the 1951 automobile registration before penalties will be assessed, A. H. "Gus" Henderson, state director of motor vehicles, said today he is encouraged by the license renewals this year.

The first three weeks of the renewal period, said Henderson, indicates his department has taken 591,660 more than for the same period last year.

The total registrations reported in at the close of business January 20 was 2,133,702, compared to 1,542,042 for the same period last year.

The department's offices will remain open until 5 p.m. February 5, final day for renewing license fees this year, but Henderson said all offices would complete taking renewals for those in line at 5 p.m., as in the usual custom.

Persons renewing by mail have until midnight, February 5, for a post mark to come under the deadline, Henderson said.

"Spreading the renewals over the five week period not only assists the department in its work, but also avoids last minute crowds at departmental offices," Henderson said. "It is gratifying to know we are away ahead of last year on the renewals."

TALK OF THE TOWN

By DIANE DALY

The overdue price and wage freeze, while duly criticized, nevertheless came as a relief to the women in our town. The spiraling cost of living was trying home-makers and hostesses to a point of frustration. At least the measure will hold the fort, they feel, until the rollback can be put into effect.

The "mock air attack" launched by the W.A.D.F. (Western Air Defense Force) is going to find the answers to hypothetical problems in case of an extreme emergency, but to the T-viewers in this area, the waves of B-50s and B-26's (to say nothing of the jets) — the only answer will be to turn off the set—amateurs, cowboys and all! Speaking of T.V. (and who isn't?)

Local Boy Makes Good, Dept.

Many folks in Daly City were surprised and pleased to see Harold Lang, guest-starring on the Jack Haley show last Thursday. Harold, who is the son of the Arthur Langs, of 14 Alp Street, was featured previously in the cast of "Kiss Me Kate" on Broadway, and will begin rehearsals soon, in a new musical called "Make a Wish," directed by Preston Sturges. Harold doesn't need to (make a wish) ... He's in the big-time. ... His dancing is superb. ... and we're proud of him!

Another boy who has many friends in Daly City is Walter Shenson, producer of the new picture, "Korea Patrol," which has received many raves by the critics, and is currently showing at the Golden Gate. Walter attended Balboa High, and Stanford, and distinguished himself as a major in the U. S. Air Corps. He is considered to be one of the youngest and most promising producers in Hollywood.

On The Mend:

Mrs. Herbert Small, 328 Hillside Blvd., who with her husband and small daughter were involved in an automobile crash several weeks ago, is recovering from the injury she sustained. At the scene of the crash, Mr. Small was overwhelmed by the many kindly residents of nearby Park Merced, who came to the rescue with hot towels, cold towels, blankets, brandy, and what have you. He wishes to express his grateful thanks to these unidentified folks for all their help.

Town Topics:

A new addition to the staff of the Green Realty Company, is localite Del Wilson. Active in civic affairs, Del served as treasurer of the Edgewood Improvement Association.

A quiet but beautiful wedding took place last Saturday, when Ray Kasmussen took as his bride the former Erva Winland, daughter of the W. D. Winlands, 171 Los Olivos St. The nuptials were held in San Francisco, with close members of the families participating. The bride was attired in a dark blue suit, with sheer white accessories, a tiny veiled hat, and wore a baby orchid corsage. They will reside in San Francisco.

Competition In Our Town:

Chatting amiably over their weekly Canasta Club table were Mrs. Ed. Nienstiel, and Mrs. Al Arnaudo, whose husbands own our two hardware stores—The Daly City Hardware and Shannons.

Catering To The Carriage Trade:

That irresistible baby shop that everyone talks about is capably managed by the Misses Clark, both unmarried, retired school teachers! And they still love children.

More and more young men are leaving the local scene for the armed forces, and the younger set is busy indeed keeping up with the flurry of parties and dances being held in their honor.

Party-Dance:

One of the large affairs held recently was for thirteen D. C. boys who enlisted together. Party-Dance arrangements were made by cooperating parents, who rented a small hall at 1324 Palou street, and provided a tasty buffet as well. Decor was in traditional red, white and blue, and huge cake with all the boys names on it was the attractive center piece. Wearing their prettiest frocks, and assisting with the festivities were the Misses: Dorothy and June Peterson, Shirley and Eleanor Filippo, Patricia Maillard, Nancy Martin, Diane Liddy, Barbara Kingard Carolyn Falogga.

Home Sweet Home:

Expected any time now, on furlough from the U. S. Marines, is Kenneth Sanguinetti, who will be welcomed by his many friends. He will make his "headquarters" the home of his mother, Mrs. J. Ierton, 1918 Palou street.

Touche:

Mrs. Willard Hodge, and Mrs. Glen Whippley, neighbors and friends of 153 and 473 Hillside Blvd. respectively, are transferring lares and penates to Redwood City, where they will occupy adjacent domiciles. Not so easily transferred are their church, friends, and jobs. So they will commute! (Farewell, but not good-bye.)

If You Are From Missouri:

There will be "shown" a film, showing local scenes and people engaged in actual Red Cross activities, so you will know what is being done with your contributions. It will be shown February 15, at Jefferson High, at 7:30 o'clock. This should prove enlightening and fun at the same time. All the "doubting Thomases" are expected to attend.

Behind The Scenes:

In every community there are those who can be accurately dubbed, "big-talk-little-do-ers." This species spend their time criticizing and otherwise sabotaging those who strive to get something done, and are careful never to do anything themselves, and thereby place themselves open to counter-attack. A local yokel in this category is betting two to one that Mayor Green's Civilian Defense Registration will fall flat on its face—card. If I know the good women of this community, whose family welfare is always uppermost, the cards will be returned in record time — and you can quote me!

Invited For A Drink:

All the good City-zens of our town, who can give one or any amount of time to the current Red Cross drive, are cordially invited by genial Joe (Papa) Lewkowicz, chairman, to come to the Daly City theatre, Feb. 8th, where a "Doughnut Dunk" will be held. At the same time the Red Cross will outline their plans and instructions. It is planned for 1:30 p.m. and a lot of people should be there.

Natalistic Note:

"Ric" Richards, grocer-manager about town, is still eating his pineapple out of a can, since his latest plans for a Hawaiian trip were thwarted at the last minute.

From The Hills Of Daly City:

Resuming active duty with the Army, former Captain Milton Sanchez, with his wife and daughter, will have to leave their home with a view" at 187 East Vista, and follow where duty calls—this time Ft. Eustace, Virginia. "Mister Sanchez" was associated with Safeway Stores, Inc.

High Noon:

The Geneva Methodist Church was the setting for the informal Installation Luncheon, held by the Mothers Club to Job's Daughters, Bethel 196. Presiding officer was Mrs. Nathrup Jensen, who conducted a simple and effective ceremony likened to the precious gems, represented in the floral table arrangements. Mrs. John Sorenson is the new president.

On The Fairway:

Warming up for the world's largest Golf Tournament, which will be held in San Francisco, are quite a group of local aspirants, with heavy odds on Bob Sylvestri, four-time runner-up. Einar Hansen, also a favored contender. At Merced Golf and Country Club Pete Marovich, ex-St. Mary's, and Warren Burl, ex-Stanford, playing at Merced, defeated San Francisco two-some, Stuart Heatley, ex-Cal and Tom Dwyer, ex-Stanford. Both Pete and Warren are expected to sign up for the big event, which will last some five weeks, as are Bachelor-cop Art Linhares, and Johnny Geiger, local painter. Roy Hart, Fred McLeod, Stephen and Jasper Armstrong and John Green should give a good account of themselves.

Not quite old enough to enter the big league, is five-year-old Johnny Kerekes, son of the Michael Kerekes at 112 East Vista, who is a familiar sight on the course, and has been playing almost since he could walk! Last year he was cover boy on the Pacific Golf Assn. magazine, and in the opinion of Nelson Cullenward, golf expert, is a boy to watch!

Remote Control:

In a congratulatory mood, Mrs. Louise Reardon, accompanied by her daughters, made a visit to Alameda, where her son Bill, Coast Guard cadet, is in training. Bill announced his engagement recently, and plans for the big event are not yet complete.

Surprise:

Quite a project, was the baby shower given for Mrs. Clyde Lynch, at the home of Mrs. Frank Boskey, and assisted by Mrs. William O'Neill. At a beautifully appointed table, covers were laid for thirty guests, and many nice gifts were received by the recipient.

Also fated for a blessed coming event was Mrs. George Balleto, who innocently visited her sister, Mrs. William Keller, 143 Thiers St., only to find some thirty-five neighbors and friends gathered to shower her with gifts. Buffet re-

Day Of Prayer To Be Observed

The World Day of Prayer will be observed at the Grace Presbyterian Church on February 9 at 2 p.m.

This is the day sponsored by the National United Council of Church Women, and locally by the Women's Council.

Mrs. William Harberts asks that anyone interested is welcome to attend the service and join in the fellowship of prayer.

Men's Dinner

Meanwhile, arrangements are being made for a men's dinner and get-together at the church Monday, February 12, at 6:45 p.m.

Dr. Paul H. Buchholz of San Francisco will be the guest speaker.

All the men of the church are asked to reserve the evening for this first men's dinner at the new church.

Pastor William Harberts anticipates a record attendance.

Last Monday evening, the members of the Session of the church met in regular meeting with their wives as guests.

This was the first meeting with the newly elected elders, Harry K. Miller and H. Steve Holcomb in attendance.

Refreshments were served, and the table centered with a special cake for the occasion.

Mrs. Leo Lemon, 266 Los Olivos St., attaining grandmother status, took off bag and baby baggage, to visit her daughter in Pueblo, Colorado. "Grandpa" expects her back as soon as possible.

Harold Huston, who was quite a young man about town, and graduate of Jefferson, is now piloting Uncle Sam's aircraft on the Tokyo-Korea circuit. Recently married, he makes his home in Washington.

Proficiency Note:

Sans union cards, but painting like professionals, were a group of lady volunteers, who are assisting in the completion of the kitchen of the new Grace Presbyterian Church. Garbed in outfits that definitely will not merit "best dressed" awards, and wearing an occasional smudge, were Mrs. Chester Tyner, Mrs. Harry Grimes, Mrs. Harry Miller and Mrs. Henry Adams.

High Jinks:

The male contingent of the D. C. Eagles, have slid from their dignified and lofty peak, long enough to play nursemaid to a frisky white rabbit. Yes, it runs all over during meetings, and its "caretakers" are the "low teams" on the current membership drive—What a spot for a practical joker—with a companion rabbit. Latest victim of the Harvey influence is Dell Fehl.

Silver Lining:

Members of the D. C. Employees Association who have been anticipating an "across the board" action for a pay raise, are hopeful that the "freeze" won't be a deep one. Mrs. Olan McKaskle, president, has gone into the matter, and is confident that D. C. will follow the pattern of other cities, S. F. included, in which city employers are not legally affected by restrictive action.

The scientific research, which has resulted in the discovery of synthetic plasma, has come at a time when a substitute for human blood is a grave problem. Compounded from Okra pods, it is cheaply made and easily kept. It is without a doubt, one of the medical milestones of progress. BUT—It does not take the place of WHOLE blood, which is still needed in large quantities, for our boys on the Korean front, so if you haven't done so—Make your appointment to give a pint—Yes—Right NOW!

Already 15 boys have joined. The newest addition to scouting in Daly City was organized following a series of meetings of interested parents who were called together for that purpose by James L. Snell, member of the San Francisco Area Council of the Boy Scouts.

Parents were acquainted with the cub program by Mr. Phillip Swartz, Educational Director and Mr. George Paldi, Organization and Extension Chairman of the Boy Scouts.

The final meeting at which the organization was started occurred last Monday. Four Dens will make up the pack with Mrs. Zena Lieberman, Sylvia Silberstein, Christine Kruse and Margaret Bosbery serving as Den Mothers.

Local Lad Stars On TV Broadcast

Harold Lang, a resident of Daly City, dancing-singing star of Broadway musical show fame, rates as a top guest favorite on TV network shows.

The popular artist, currently starred as a "repeater" on the Paul Whiteman, Don Ameche and Jack Haley programs, is best remembered recently for his smash success as the juvenile lead in the original cast of "Kiss Me Kate."

He is now in rehearsal for the dancing-singing lead in the new Preston Sturges musical, "Make A Wish," scheduled for Philadelphia opening March 12, coming to Broadway three weeks later. Home Nursing Service Forced To Cut Services

Some curtailment of the services formerly offered by the Visiting Nursing Association of San Mateo County, Inc., will be made this year, Mrs. George V. Kulchar, president of the association announced today.

The cutback in home visits by the nursing group has been necessitated due to the fact that the fund raising campaign conducted last year in which the VNA sought to raise $25,000 was only moderately successful.

Mrs. James Rogers of Atherton, chairman of the VNA Personnel Committee said that the group has recommended that the VNA continue to accept calls for service to persons acutely ill at home and to continue to give service as long as there is a need for professional nursing care.

Furthermore, her committee agreed that the VNA would continue to accept call for service to the chronically ill at home, but would continue to give service as long as required to teach a responsible member of the patient's family to carry on.

Mrs. Kulchar said that although the number of registered nurses on the VNA staff has been cut in half since last year, the VNA service is still available to bedridden patients throughout the county.

At present the VNA maintains offices in three county areas. Following are the phone numbers to call when seeking home nursing service: Daly City, Plaza 5-0771. Burlingame, Diamond 3-2769. Redwood City, EMerson 8-3349.

"We are living," said M. L. Brown, administrative director of the Eagles, "in a turbulent world threatened with the devastation of our spiritual, moral, and material resources. We have come to the conclusion that the one universal way through which we can aid in defeating Communism, preventing war and promoting peace, can be by the mobilization of the prayers of our more than one million members."

Mrs. Carter further stated that for several weeks the local Aerie has been offering this silent prayer for peace, and invites all other local organizations in the community to join together at all civic and public gatherings in a thirty-second silent, universal, and personal prayer for peace.

There Are More Jobs For Gals

The old advice, "Go West, Young Man," has a more modern version now, and it is "Go West, Young Woman," with the result 95,000 members of the fair sex found jobs in California from November, 1949 to November, 1950.

Industries in this state offer many opportunities to women workers, and California topped the nation in this respect for an eight per cent gain. Jobs were in non-agricultural lines, according to the State Department of Industrial Relations, in a report to Governor Earl Warren.

Women employed in this state last November totaled 1,345,000, compared to 1,255,000 in the same month the preceding year.

The department reported 64 industrial deaths for the month against 48 in November, 1949. Fatalities for the first eleven months of 1950, totaling 638, showed an increase over a similar period in the preceding year when 605 were reported.

Electrocution, asphyxiation and burns were among the chief causes of fatalities, the department stated.

The Geneva-Mission Merchants Association announces the following list of officers for its Association for the year 1951:

President, Earl McCloud; First Vice President, Mario Castelli; Third Vice President, Joseph Fannah; Financial Secretary, John Venturi; Recording Secretary, Leonard J. Cordini; Treasurer, Al Bertolozzi; Orator, Ignatius Plozza; Trustee, Mickey Powers, Dick Blanchard, Dick Ban; Sergeant-at-Arms, Mr. Gelley.

Honorary Members: Mayor Elmer E. Robinson, Hon. George R. Reilly, Comm. John P. Figone, Judge John R. Molinari, Judge Albert C. Wollenberg, Judge Leo A. Cunningham, Judge Edward F. O'Day.

Board of Directors: Walter Renner Jr., president; Mrs. E. Martini, William Appleton, Walter Renner Sr., Frank Harrison, Ed. Farrah, Al Bindi, Ernest Chioti, Al Pfeiffer, Joseph Fox, William Cresta, Al Fregosi, William Aliamo.

The Association extends congratulations to its Board of Officers and everyone looks forward to successful and active year. At the first meeting of the year action was already started; the Association scheduled an Installation Banquet for the officers to take place on Saturday evening, March 11, at the Italian-American Social Club at Russia and Mission streets. It will be a limited attendance affair, and is fully expected to be as great a success as the banquet of 1950.

The members will be given first preference in purchase of the tickets for themselves and friends. Get them early, it was real good last year and the tickets were all gone way before the banquet night. Save that date—March 11, 1951.

An Easter Festival for the Geneva Mission District was also discussed and plans are being made to put it into effect. The Association Annual Picnic will be held again this year, tentative plans calling for the best available July or August date, the location to be Adobe Creek Ranch.

With the cooperation and support of its many members, the Association expects a banner year, and tenders best wishes to all its members, customers and friends.

Under the Federal wage and hour law, a workweek, for purposes of computing overtime pay, consists of a permanent cycle of seven consecutive calendar days.

Col. Fogle Named To S.F. Defense Job

Appointment of Colonel Fred M. Fogle, nationally known rail, motor and water transportation expert, as Transportation Officer for the San Francisco Disaster Council and Corps, was announced today by Mayor Elmer E. Robinson, Commander.

In naming the distinguished military figure and former Chief of Staff of the San Francisco Port of Embarkation to the newly created civil defense post, the Mayor invoked his emergency powers again under an official proclamation of public emergency issued January 2.

The Mayor said he had studied carefully the ramifications of the traffic and transportation problem which would face San Francisco in the event of an emergency and that Admiral A. G. Cook, Disaster Corps Director, had urged emphatically the need for such an officer.

Colonel Fogle, who lives at 3729 Divisadero Street, San Francisco, entered active military service in 1917 as an officer in World War I. At the time of his retirement last March he was in command of the Oakland Quartermaster Purchasing Office and Administrative Agency.

In his new post, Colonel Fogle

JOLLY TIME POP CORN

BAYSHORE VISITACION VALLEY
By Bernice Hendryx JUniper 4-6449

The March of Dimes Dance, given last Saturday night by the Mr. and Mrs. Club, was not the success that the club had hoped for.

Even so, there will be some thirty-five dollars donated to the March of Dimes, and who knows, maybe it will be a little more. People are still offering a buck here and a buck there, so that figure may be increased. The ham that the club raffied, was won by Henry Walker, a resident of the Project. All that ham and not even an invite for Sunday morning breakfast. We'd have brought our own eggs Henry.

We have a new Boy Scout leader. Phil Dods is taking over the job of Scoutmaster in the valley. The Improvement Club is the Boy Scouts sponsor, and the new Chairman, Mr. Frank Semeit, who took office just last month, has already pointed out the Club the fact that they have a definite responsibility to the boys. Take note of this Mr. Dods, and attend the meetings. That is the only way that you can keep the responsibility before the Club. Drop down and keep them posted on what is needed, and what should be done.

New Leader
We have another new leader in our youth organizations. Mr. Bernard A. Painchaud is new Cubmaster in Bayshore, and we wish him a lot of luck. We might give a vote of thanks too, to Earl Frank, the retiring Cubmaster. Earl really put his heart into that job, and the only reason that the Cubs didn't go farther under his leadership, was because of the poor response on the part of some of the parents.

It might be pointed out here that these youth organizations need the interest and backing of the parents of the children, if they are to accomplish what is expected of them. The Cubs, for instance, have a Pack meeting only once a month.

The parents are asked to attend this one short meeting, so that their boys may advance as they should. The parents sit in judgment of their boys, and without their backing, the kids can't earn their badges. So it isn't entirely up to one or two adults to do the whole job. Some of these people come forward and offer their time to these groups, but they can't do the job alone.

Service News
We told you a short time ago that one of the Percival boys had gone into the Navy. At the present telling, we are a bit behind times. All three of the boys are now members of Uncle Sam's Navy. Ronald, Ralph, and Robert have all entered the service within a few short weeks. Good luck fellas, and we hope you get back soon. You leave quite a gap in the family circle right now.

The Sunday morning topic at the Bayshore Baptist Church will be "A Sad Reunion." The evening message will be "The Deceiver."

PTA Program
The Bayshore PTA will have their annual Founders Day Program, on Friday evening, Feb. 9. There will be a short play, entitled "Our Founders Built Well." Children will take part in the program with accordians, steel guitars, and singing. The Founders Day Chairman this year is Mrs. J. G. King. The 17th District President, Mrs. G. J. Sirex, and the District Parliamentarian, Mrs. J. M. Foley, will be the guests of our PTA on that evening. Refreshments will be served.

The nominating committee of the PTA was chosen at the last regular meeting, and new officers will be elected in March. It might be mentioned here too, that the turn out last Friday for the movie cartoons was a big one. The Bayshore PTA makes these movies possible for the children, and the kids love them.

Committee Meet
There will be a committee meeting next Tuesday afternoon at 1:30, at the home of Mrs. Dunham, 24 Battleship Road, of our two Girl Scout Troops, and our two Brownie Troops. The meeting will be held to think up ways and means to make the annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale a success. The sale this year will be from Feb. 12 to 24, and it is really a worthwhile deal. The Girl Scouts are only allowed two money making projects a year, and these funds must stretch to cover all the things necessary to make these organizations successful.

Mrs. Doty is taking troop 43 of the Girl Scouts temporarily for Mrs. Eileen Dock, who is at present recovering from an operation.

More about our blood donations: As most of you know, the Campfire Girls have been trying to make it possible to get a blood-mobile unit into Bayshore for some time now. The requirements are that we must have a certain number of pledges before we can get a mobile unit to come into any area.

Project
The thing that has kept this project up in the air is the fact that Visitation Valley had already negotiated for a blood-mobile unit to come into the other side of the valley. The girls have tried to feel out opinion here in Bayshore, to see if as many pledges could be obtained from people to go over to the Community Center as could be gotten if the unit were set up right here. The question is still hanging fire, but Visitation's tentative date is set for Feb. 28, and at the present time, the Campfire Girls cannot get a definite date set for a unit to come to Bayshore. You are still being urged to call JU. 4-2984, or JU. 4-6449, and leave your name, if you are interested in this drive.

State Legislature Moves To Eliminate U. I. Fund Chiseling

FEB. 1.—(CNS)—Measures designed to eliminate what has been termed a $20,000,000 annual "chiseling" practice on the State Unemployment Insurance fund are before the legislature for consideration when the solons return to Sacramento March 12.

Two bills, A. B. 2501 and 2502 by Assemblymen Richard Dolwig of San Mateo county and Ernest Geddes of Los Angeles county, would, their proponents say, put a halt to the presently legal method of obtaining money from the fund for a total of 12 out of 18 months.

A. B. 2502 eliminates the "lag" quarter, under which, if a person works 18 months he may file an insurance claim during the first four of the last six quarters worked.

After drawing $25 a week for 26 weeks, the same person may file a second claim, based on earnings during the 5th and 6th quarters they were employed, and draw $25 a week for 26 more weeks.

The Dolwig-Geddes bill would provide that any wages earned prior to filing the first claim could be used in a computation for second benefits only in the event the claimant has earned sufficient wages to meet the eligibility requirements before the second claim is filed.

A. B. 2501 would raise the minimum wages necessary to qualify unemployment insurance claimants for benefits from $300 to $600.

Shop Courses Offered At Balboa

The Adult Education Division of the San Francisco Public Schools offers free cabinet shop and radio-electricity shop classes at Balboa High School on Monday and Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m.

People in this district who are interested in using modern shop equipment and receiving the assistance of qualified teachers are invited to attend.

Cabinet Shop
Use of the modern power tools; such as planers, hand saws, lathes, jointers, and sanders, are available in the adult schools' cabinet shop. Individual instruction is emphasized, and beginners are encouraged to enroll. People who are interested in making things for their home will find this class most helpful.

Radio and Electricity Shop
The class in radio and electricity combines classroom instruction and workshop application. The class is open for beginning students who have an interest in radio and electricity. People with previous radio experience will find the course valuable in refresher training and in bringing their knowledge up to date in this rapidly advancing subject. Karl Schwarze, the instructor, points out that training in radio and electricity is especially valuable during this time of expanding war and defense industry. There is no charge for the use of equipment and instruction in these shop classes. For further information concerning these or other adult evening classes at Balboa High School, call Mission Adult School, HEmlack 1-4899.

LAKE MERCED LAND TO BE SOLD SOON

With the approval of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, some 33 acres of city-owned land in the vicinity of Lake Merced will soon be sold at public auction, foreshadowing another large scale residential development in the area west of Twin Peaks.

The land had been held to provide room for expansion of Fleishacker Playfield and Zoo, but acquisition by the city of the northern 46 acres of Fort Funston from the Federal government freed the tract for private development.

Overtime compensation earned under the Federal wage and hour law is due when the employee customarily receives his pay.

County Medical Disaster Plan Set

In case of enemy attack, San Mateo County will have 2,300 beds ready and an efficient medical staff for first aid work.

Dr. Harold D. Chope, county health director, announced he has worked out a point-by-point plan for action in case of A-bomb attack.

A coordinating committee of county medical men, headed by Dr. Chope, has agreed services should be organized on a county-wide basis, since it is not feasible to have independent city setups in closely knit communities such as on the Peninsula.

Employment of convict labor on goods and materials furnished to the Government under the Public Contract Act is prohibited by law.

Boys under 16 and girls under 18 are not permitted to work on materials furnished to the Government under the Public Contract Act.

Inquire Before Changing G-I Life Insurance

There are so many technicalities involved in many transactions relating to a veteran's National Service Life Insurance that he should obtain and follow first-hand information before attempting to take any important step in respect to it, according to Floyd D. Granger, Veterans Service Officer, San Mateo County.

"We have instance after instance of a veteran's trying to straighten out some NSLI matter through direct correspondence with the Veterans Administration and stripping over some provision of the regulations of which he was not aware," Granger explained. "In the end this office is called on to help him straighten out the matter anyway."

Use of the proper VA forms and knowledge of the extent and nature of the information which must be supplied in various NSLI matters invariably saves time, money and peace of mind for the veteran and his family, he added. Forms and information are available at the Veterans Service Office, Courthouse, Redwood City, along with counsel based on experience and special training in NSLI problems.

LITTLE THEATRE PRESENTS SHAW

"Pygmalion" To Be Given Feb. 1 To Feb. 6

George Bernard Shaw's famed comedy, "Pygmalion" opens Thursday, February 1, in the San Jose State College Little Theater for a five day run, through February 6, except for Sunday February 4, with Elizabeth Loeffler directing.

Betsy Smith of Los Gatos will play the role of Eliza Doolittle, a Cockney flower girl, in this story about the transformation of an uncouth Cockney girl into a lady by a phonetics expert, and the simultaneous transformation of the phonetics expert into a human being by the Cockney flower girl.

Miss Smith, who scored many fine performances at State College, is without a doubt the most versatile actress in the department at the present time. She has played equally well ladies of fashion, young scamps, and women of many different periods. Her last role was that of Lorna in Odet's "Golden Boy." As Eliza, Betsy will have a golden opportunity to show her versatility.

Playing the phonetics expert in the local production will be phonetics expert, Alden Smith, Assistant Professor of Speech and Drama at San Jose State College. J. Wendell Johnson's problems in designing and mounting "Pygmalion" are not so easily met. The play calls for a very realistic series of three very different settings.

The hardest one to execute will be the opening scene which shows the portal of a church on a very wet, rainy night where people are huddled waiting for taxis. It is on the steps of the church that Higgins first encounters Eliza.

Footnote

Johnson pointed out an interesting footnote on the original 1914 production of the play when under Shaw's direction there were full-sized taxicabs driven across the stage. Anyone acquainted with the off stage space in the college little theater can understand why this would not be feasible in the college production.

A large stage crew under the faculty management of Douglas Morrison will be busy making these changes possible. Larry Norton will be the stage manager, Tom Triena heads the properties crew and Barbara Bauman is responsible for the sound effects.

The cast is as follows: Eliza Doolittle, Betsy Smith; Henry Higgins, Alden Smith; Col. Pickering, Fred Adair; Freddy, Warren Ramsey; Clara Eynsford Hill, Norma Welch; Mrs. Eynsford Hill, Marilyn Coates; Mrs. Pearce, Doris Ostlund; Alfred Doolittle, Joseph

Imports of water into the San Francisco Bay Area during 1948 averaged 177 million gallons daily.

Clerks, stenographers, bookkeepers and other general office workers, when engaged in interstate commerce or in any closely related process or occupation directly essential to production of goods for interstate commerce, are covered by the Federal wage and hour law.

Tea Totalers Take Back Seat

FEB. 1—(CNS) — Despite the fact that the drinking capacity of California citizens still is below the 1949 level, as evidenced by a report of the State Board of Equalization, tax collections for the first five months of the fiscal year took a 22.7 per cent jump over the same period a year ago.

The board said it collected $1,649,522 for the month of November on who'sale distributions but these were about five per cent lower than November last year.

During November, retailers purchased 1,716,800 gallons of distilled spirits for a brisk Christmas trade, which was 30 per cent above the October sales.

Sodium chloride, or common salt, is the principal saline product of Alameda County.

The Sydney (Australia) Harbor Bridge has a clearance of 176 feet above the water of the harbor.

Save Your Jobless Pay!

BY ROSS GRAHAM

Ed Note: This is the fifth of a series of ten special articles.

Frauds against the California unemployment insurance fund do not constitute a major abuse, but they do help to deplete the fund which is steadily losing money, despite the record employment in the state during the last year.

Frauds play their part in setting up the condition where unemployment insurance benefits might be stopped entirely, or the employers forced to pay a higher tax on their payrolls to replenish the fund, or the employees themselves again being forced to contribute 1 per cent or more of their pay checks

Now domestics are under unemployment insurance, but only if regularly employed and receiving 50 or more in wages from one employer in a calendar quarter, so there still is a loophole for frauds.

Only Way

The only way to catch these frauds is for the Unemployment Insurance Commission to have investigation of each claimant.

This at present is largely impossible, as the Commission has only 32 investigators for the entire state.

Approximately 100,700 persons a week received unemployment or disability insurance payments during September, according to the Commission's report. Obviously 32 investigators could check but a small portion of this number.

Even so, the fraud investigators have done a remarkably good job, and when word gets around that the investigators are in the neighborhood, Commission records show the claims take a sharp drop, indicating that there is fraud going on.

Convictions

Between July 1, 1949, and June 30, 1950, a total of 3,432 investigations were made, which resulted in 1,142 court convictions. In addition, many cases were of a petty nature and were settled by the Commission without court action.

As fraud is a felony, a prison or jail sentence is possible and the courts make the fraudulent claimants pay back the benefits wrongfully collected. In the petty cases, the Commission gets restitution.

One of the common rackets is for the worker to have two or even more social security cards.

Two Cards

One case involved a waitress with two social security cards. She would work under one name, and card, long enough to establish wage credits, then would file a claim, draw benefits and go to work under the second name and social security card. She would be drawing wages in a new job while drawing unemployment payments for the old job.

This suggests the Federal government could well tighten up on the issuance of social security cards. Apparently all a person has to do is apply for the card under any name and it is given without question, making such frauds as the foregoing possible.

Rackets

A system of placing the thumbprint on social security cards, as is done on automobile drivers' licenses, with a penalty against a person who secures more than one social security card, might end this racket.

Change Made

But such a change would have to be made in Washington.

As said before, outright fraud is not so much a problem as the "voluntary quit" where the claimant uses all sorts of subterfuges to avoid getting a job, meanwhile drawing unemployment insurance.

But they all add up to the reason why the unemployment insurance fund in California will have paid out $23,000,000 approximately more last year than it took in, according to the best estimates.

All kinds of illegal and improper payments to unemployment insurance chiselers of various sorts is estimated at the present time to amount to $60,000,000 to $75,000,000 a year at least.

If these rackets can be stopped, the money saved for the honestly unemployed workers of California will result in an increase in the unemployment reserve fund instead of a deficit, at least as long as the present full employment lasts.

But there are still other rackets that must be abolished if the fund is to be protected.

The next installment will tell about the "lag quarter" situation, whereby a smart and unprincipled person can loaf on unemployment insurance a full year out of every 18 months.

The Mesabi, Cyuna and Vermilion Ranges in Minnesota produce from 60 to 70 per cent of the nation's iron ore.

"Mike McCauley" Opens At Geary Theatre Jan. 29

Having successfully launched the smash hit comedy, "Affairs of State," starring Celeste Holm, on Broadway earlier this season, Producers Richard W. Krakeur and Fred F. Finkelhoffe are bringing their next production of the season, the exciting and entertaining drama, "Mike McCauley," to the Geary Theatre, San Francisco, on Monday evening, January 29th, for a limited engagement.

Starred in the leading roles in the comedy drama will be the Hollywood favorite, Don DeFore, and the foremost actress of Italy and Continental Europe, the distinguished artist, Isa Miranda, and supporting the two stars will be the well known film player, Tom Neal, and an excellent cast composed of James Cross, Don Orlando, Anita Ridolfi, Charles Andre, William Hudson, Kippie Valez, Rudolph Anders, Richard Latimer and Rosay David.

Don DeFore will appear in the title role of Mike McCauley, an American GI who, with several of his fellows, has been assigned a perilous task to perform behind the enemy lines in the campaign in Northern Italy. A number of wholly unexpected events occur during the accomplishment of the mission, some tense, dramatic and thrilling, others humorous, grotesque and comic, ere the adventurers achieve the climax of their mission, which serve to make an absorbing and lively show.

The scenery for the play was designed by the famous artist, George Jenkins, and the production was staged by Co-producer and Co-author Fred F. Finkelhoffe.

Performances will be given every evening including Sundays, with matinees on Saturdays and a special mid-week matinee on Wednesday, January 31st.

be the opening scene which shows the portal of a church on a very wet, rainy night where people are huddled waiting for taxis. It is on the steps of the church that Higgins first encounters Eliza.

Footnote

Johnson pointed out an interesting footnote on the original 1914 production of the play when under Shaw's direction there were full-sized taxicabs driven across the stage. Anyone acquainted with the off stage space in the college little theater can understand why this would not be feasible in the college production.

A large stage crew under the faculty management of Douglas Morrison will be busy making these changes possible. Larry Norton will be the stage manager, Tom Triena heads the properties crew and Barbara Bauman is responsible for the sound effects.

The cast is as follows: Eliza Doolittle, Betsy Smith; Henry Higgins, Alden Smith; Col. Pickering, Fred Adair; Freddy, Warren Ramsey; Clara Eynsford Hill, Norma Welch; Mrs. Eynsford Hill, Marilyn Coates; Mrs. Pearce, Doris Ostlund; Alfred Doolittle, Joseph

Roberts; Mrs. Higgins, Evelyn McCurdy; Maid, Elaine Geny; By-standers, Bruce Payne, Marjorie Brown, Robert Dietle, Jack Byers.

Imports of water into the San Francisco Bay Area during 1948 averaged 177 million gallons daily.

FEB. 1—(CNS) — Despite the fact that the drinking capacity of California citizens still is below the 1949 level, as evidenced by a report of the State Board of Equalization, tax collections for the first five months of the fiscal year took a 22.7 per cent jump over the same period a year ago.

The board said it collected $1,649,522 for the month of November on wholesale distributions but these were about five per cent lower than November last year.

During November, retailers purchased 1,716,800 gallons of distilled spirits for a brisk Christmas trade, which was 30 per cent above the October sales.

Sodium chloride, or common salt, is the principal saline product of Alameda County.

Save Your Jobless Pay!

BY ROSS GRAHAM

Ed Note: This is the fifth of a series of ten special articles.

Frauds against the California unemployment insurance fund do not constitute a major abuse, but they do help to deplete the fund which is steadily losing money, despite the record employment in the state during the last year.

Frauds play their part in setting up the condition where unemployment insurance benefits might be stopped entirely, or the employers forced to pay a higher tax on their payrolls to replenish the fund, or the employees themselves again being forced to contribute 1 per cent or more of their pay checks towards the fund.

The employees have not paid into the unemployment insurance fund since May, 1946, when their 1 per cent contribution was diverted to disability, or sickness, insurance.

Still Working

In 99 per cent of the cases of fraud, the perpetrator is working at some job and collecting unemployment benefits at the same time.

In some cases a worker quits or is laid off a job that comes under unemployment insurance. He or she applies for benefits and at the same time goes to work in agriculture or domestic service.

Prior to the latest Congressional amendment to the Social Security setup, no reports were made from these occupations as they did not come under unemployment insurance. Therefore, there were no records to show the fraud to the Commission.

Now domestics are under unemployment insurance, but only if regularly employed and receiving 50 or more in wages from one employer in a calendar quarter, so there still is a loophole for frauds.

Only Way

The only way to catch these frauds is for the Unemployment Insurance Commission to have investigation of each claimant.

This at present is largely impossible, as the Commission has only 32 investigators for the entire state.

Approximately 100,700 persons a week received unemployment or disability insurance payments during September, according to the Commission's report. Obviously 32 investigators could check but a small portion of this number.

Even so, the fraud investigators have done a remarkably good job, and when word gets around that the investigators are in the neighborhood, Commission records show the claims take a sharp drop, indicating that there is fraud going on.

Convictions

Between July 1, 1949, and June 30, 1950, a total of 3,432 investigations were made, which resulted in 1,142 court convictions. In addition, many cases were of a petty nature and were settled by the Commission without court action.

As fraud is a felony, a prison or jail sentence is possible and the courts make the fraudulent claimants pay back the benefits wrongfully collected. In the petty cases, the Commission gets restitution.

One of the common rackets is for the worker to have two or even more social security cards.

Two Cards

One case involved a waitress with two social security cards. She would work under one name, and card, long enough to establish wage credits, then would file a claim, draw benefits and go to work under the second name and social security card. She would be drawing wages in a new job while drawing unemployment payments for the old job.

This suggests the Federal government could well tighten up on the issuance of social security cards. Apparently all a person has to do is apply for the card under any name and it is given without question, making such frauds as the foregoing possible.

Change Made

But such a change would have to be made in Washington.

As said before, outright fraud is not so much a problem as the "voluntary quit" where the claimant uses all sorts of subterfuges to avoid getting a job, meanwhile drawing unemployment insurance.

But they all add up to the reason why the unemployment insurance fund in California will have paid out $23,000,000 approximately more last year than it took in, according to the best estimates.

All kinds of illegal and improper payments to unemployment insurance chiselers of various sorts is estimated at the present time to amount to $60,000,000 to $75,000,000 a year at least.

Rackets

If these rackets can be stopped, the money saved for the honestly unemployed workers of California will result in an increase in the unemployment reserve fund instead of a deficit, at least as long as the present full employment lasts.

But there are still other rackets that must be abolished if the fund is to be protected.

The next installment will tell about the "lag quarter" situation, whereby a smart and unprincipled person can loaf on unemployment insurance a full year out of every 18 months.

The Mesabi, Cyuna and Vermilion Ranges in Minnesota produce from 60 to 70 per cent of the nation's iron ore.

"Mike McCauley" Opens At Geary Theatre Jan. 29

Having successfully launched the smash hit comedy, "Affairs of State," starring Celeste Holm, on Broadway earlier this season, Producers Richard W. Krakeur and Fred F. Finkelhoffe are bringing their next production of the season, the exciting and entertaining drama, "Mike McCauley," to the Geary Theatre, San Francisco, on Monday evening, January 29th, for a limited engagement.

Starred in the leading roles in the comedy drama will be the Hollywood favorite, Don DeFore, and the foremost actress of Italy and Continental Europe, the distinguished artist, Isa Miranda, and supporting the two stars will be the well known film player, Tom Neal, and an excellent cast composed of James Cross, Don Orlando, Anita Ridolfi, Charles Andre, William Hudson, Kippee Valez, Rudolph Anders, Richard Latimer and Rosay David.

Don DeFore will appear in the title role of Mike McCauley, an American GI who, with several of his fellows, has been assigned a perilous task to perform behind the enemy lines in the campaign in Northern Italy. A number of wholly unexpected events occur during the accomplishment of the mission, some tense, dramatic and thrilling, others humorous, grotesque and comic, ere the adventurers achieve the climax of their mission, which serve to make an absorbing and lively show.

The scenery for the play was designed by the famous artist, George Jenkins, and the production was staged by Co-producer and Co-author Fred F. Finkelhoffe.

Performances will be given every evening including Sundays, with matinees on Saturdays and a special mid-week matinee on Wednesday, January 31st.

Blue jeans and plaid cotton shirts remain the year-in, year-out favorite of school girls for leisure-time wear, the National Cotton Council reports. Collegiennes and high schoolers like the casual, comfortable outfits for both playtime and study hours. This bold plaid cotton shirt with a new convertible collar was designed by Ship 'n
Shore for wear with either jeans or skirts.

Basement No Place In A-Bomb Raid

FEB. 1 — (CNS) — Stay out of your basement in case of atom bomb attack or air raid, all advice to the contrary, a bulletin received by the State Department of Agriculture today advised.

Citing experiences of Great Britain during the past war, the bulletin pointed out those taking refuge in basements face the peril of smothering to death in the event the building collapses.

Additional hazards cited were water and gas from broken pipes gathering in the basement which would be fatal if exits were blocked.

British found during the last war that most casualties from German air raids were caused by buildings collapsing over basements where people had taken refuge. They died before rescue crews could dig them out.

vember in History.

A total of 294,773,520 gallons of such fuels was distributed during the month, sixteen and half million more than in November, 1949.
Taxes collected amounted to $12,- 523,185, the Board said.

"GO NATIVE" say the world's style leaders—by borrowing the colors and patterns of native African tribes for their sport shirts. Palm Beach white walking shorts set off one of these new sport shirtings which is inspired by the patterns used in native African Mombasa cloth. Knee length socks and white Patio-Shell shoes complete the ensemble.
